

Teacher Profile: James Knight, BA (Hons) Music, CME*, MISM

I am a music graduate from Dartington College of Arts and have studied music as a junior exhibitor at Trinity College London. Whilst at Trinity College, I performed at various concert halls and was a joint winner of the Hambourg Award for Improvisation.

I currently teach piano at several schools in Exeter and have taught both piano and flute in schools and privately. I have also led several music workshops in primary schools in the Exeter area.

My teaching approach is pupil-centred; I use a wide range of material and approaches to ensure progress and keep lessons interesting and rewarding.

I can teach complete beginners up to the more intermediate stages of learning.

I provide a free demonstration lesson to see whether you feel I am the right teacher for you, after which my rates are as follows:

20 minutes: £11

30 minutes: £16

If you are interested in lessons for your child please contact me to arrange your free demonstration lesson:
