Avanti Gardens: leading the way in developing child-led ecosystems!

Avanti Gardens School are extremely fortunate to have such a fantastic learning environment that adds such awe and wonder to each new learning experience. They have made the best use of every space to provide a rich learning setting for all of our children and are very excited to develop their EYFS area; both inside and out.

Giving children autonomy over their own learning within a thriving environment can give all staff more time to provide groups of learners with more focused tailor-made teaching opportunities. Children need to know how to learn as well as what to learn. “Let them play... follow children’s interests... encourage them to LOVE learning....”

Great books build the imagination

At Avanti Gardens, we aim to promote reading throughout the school and within our local community. We live in a speculative society in which proficient literacy abilities are embraced and are considered the key to success and academic achievement.

Avanti Gardens have reopened their library which is well stocked with quality texts and comfortable seating. They have also ensured that there are 'book nooks' placed around the school site for children to visit as a treat! Children need to read. They have a right to be taught to read. Their reading skills are vital to their growth as a person. Reading will not just give them greater access to future studies and academic success but will also improve how they interact with others and approach life itself. Reading broadens horizons and should not ever be a chore or an obligation; it is a gift.

Children's Mental health week

From Monday 1st February to Friday 5th February, children at Krishna Avanti Primary School joined many schools in the United Kingdom in a virtual assembly led by Blue Peter's Lindsey Russell and CBBC presenter Rhys Stephenson to learn about their mental health and why it is important to 'Express Ourselves'. important to 'Express Ourselves'. Have a look at the different ways in which we went about 'Expressing Ourselves.' In Year 1, the children designed brilliant posters to share how they could express themselves and take care of their mental wellbeing!

The symptom of an educated person is good character, which includes empathy, gratitude, courage, integrity, self-discipline and respect.

This requires helping students practise ethical and compassionate acts based upon their psycho-social nature, while keeping life's ultimate goal in sight.

Avanti House Secondary School: Student GCSE Mandarin Success

Shivane Popat is currently in Year 11 at Avanti House Secondary School and at age 4 she started to learn Mandarin. She has continued to learn this independently and has now completed the GCSE examination achieving a Grade 7. This is a fantastic achievement and is made even more impressive considering that she was preparing for the exams through the national lockdowns.

When asked about her achievement, Shivane said “I just feel like it’s so inspiring and empowering to learn a whole different language from scratch. This achievement has made me reflect on the past year and having studied for this GCSE during a global pandemic it has really made me grateful for my education!”

We are all very proud of Shivane. Throughout this difficult time she has been a role model to the rest of the Avanti family and has demonstrated that academic excellence is within your grasp through perseverance. We wish her luck with the upcoming GCSEs.
